INSPIRATION FOR FUTURE ADVANCEMENT IS RECEIVED FROM INSPIRING TALKS

CHARLEROI SHOWS GOOD GAIN IN POPULATION DURING TEN YEARS

Civic Spirit Thoroughly Aroused at First Annual Banquet of Business Men's Association.

BENEFIT OF CO-OPERATION

Pittsburg Men Show by Addresses How in "Union There is Strength" for Accomplishing Great Good For Town

Not in recent years has the civic spirit for the future advancement and development of Charleroi been so thoroughly aroused or was furnished so much inspiration as at the first annual banquet of the Charleroi Business Men's Association at the Hotel Charleroi last night. Amid genial feasting, neighborly sympathy and good fellowship, with official representatives of the State from Governor-elect to Assemblyman—indicative of Charleroi's progressiveness and importance—together with representatives of the greatest industries on earth, many of them furnishing accepted standard for the United States government, and promulgators for great business men's associations of the Pittsburgh district, the pathway was blazed for the future welfare and aggrandizement of the Magic City. Incidentally a boom for a new county and another free bridge spanning the Monongahela between two populous centers was launched.

It was a representative gathering of Charleroi's best and most progressive citizens. Every class was represented, manufacturers, merchants, professional men, bankers and citizens generally, all who were interested in Charleroi's advancement. Not only was the pathway blazed for the future development of Charleroi, but some eminently practical knowledge of what is necessary and how to accomplish the means sought was disseminated, and the enthusiastic spirit in which it was received leads to the belief that definite action along some of the lines will be speedily taken.

In the address of Enoch Raub, president of the Pittsburgh Association of Credit Men, and L. C. Voss of Pittsburgh, another prominent member, were shown the benefits of co-operation among the business men and the value of character and capacity in the individual in determining business standing and credit. In short, a data of business ethics was presented which must have been a revelation to those who have not given the matter much thought.

All the addresses were eminently practical and helpful. Governor-elect Tener inspired action when he assured the company present that if a right of way could be secured to Reisterville and the adjoining town a trolley extension would be made. Jesse K. Johnson gave inspiration for action by pointing out the undeveloped resources under our very noses. Millions of dollars are lost to the community by shipping away the raw material produced here to manufacture the things we need and then shipping them back. Mr. Johnson conclusively showed that there are acres of diamonds right here in the Monongahela valley awaiting development.

The girl will be sent through the Monessen tuberculosis dispensary.

Last week Miss Maria Watson, the nurse at the Monessen dispensary, wrote to a member of the Washington Avenue Ladies Missionary society to let her know if something could not be done to defray the expenses of the girl to the sanitarium and to provide clothing suitable for her while she was there, and the matter was immediately taken up. Cash offerings and gifts of clothing were solicited from a number of people until all necessities have been secured.

Subscriptions were received from the First National Bank, the Bank of Charleroi, the Charleroi Savings and Trust company, Piper's Pharmacy, Mrs. F. Murdock, Oscar C. Carson, Mrs. Mary Phillips, Eugene Fau, the clerks at Paul's store, Mrs. J. A. Henderson, Mrs. J. B. Campbell, Mrs. William Moss, Mrs. R. J. Whitehead, J. J. Beerens, Mrs. J. W. Manon, J. W. ASSOCIATION URGED TO WORK UNITEDLY FOR COMMON GOOD

Speakers Pay High Tributes to Charleroi, but Say That Effort is Needed Now to Insure Its Advancement

Charleroi was never paid higher tribute of its industry and substantiality as a business center than it was last night at the first banquet of the Business Men's Association at Hotel Charleroi.

The banquet was opened with about 80 persons at the festive board by John H. Bowers, president of the Business Men's Association, who called upon Rev. L. W. Shey to ask the blessing. After the banquet was served Mr. Bowers made a brief address, which was somewhat curtailed on account of the late hour, in which he extended a hearty welcome to members of the association who were present and the specially invited guests. He spoke briefly of the general purpose of the gathering and introduced John D. Berryman as toastmaster.

Mr. Berryman, in his speech of acceptance of the honor, said that he wished to be known as a pusher for Charleroi's future good, and was not anxious to be classed as a leader but only one of a collective number striving for a common good. He said he was proud of the town and stated that while it had advanced through various stages to what it is at present, there are still great opportunities for which every business man and citizen should constantly be watching and waiting to grasp. He exhorted his hearers to always speak well of Charleroi, and gave as one of the purposes of the gathering last night, the chance to renew pledges made heretofore to co-operate in securing things for the betterment of the community. Mr. Berryman introduced the first speaker, Hon. John K. Tener, Governor-elect of Pennsylvania, as one in whom Charleroi always has had great pride, his words being greeted with tumultuous applause.

Mr. Tener said in part: "Mr. Toastmaster, and my creditors, your guests I am here tonight as a neighbor and member of this association. I want it distinctly understood that I am not present as a specially invited guest, and further more I do not wish to be a specially invited guest at any similar function. I want to be one of you. While perhaps I could dwell at some length on National or State issues, I will forego the pleasure of lecturing on either to night and confine my talk strictly to Charleroi and its possibilities. We should feel honored by the presence of two of the representative men of neighboring towns, E. Bayard of Donora and George Nash of Monessen. But we do not yield to the towns these men represent in point of loyalty or industry. Charleroi has grown because of herself and not in spite of herself. Monessen might be said to have grown in spite of herself. In the way of industries we have the most substantial there is to be had. The industries which have located here, let it be said to our credit, have never been of the experimental kind, but businesses of proven ability. For instance, to show that Charleroi occupies a top notch in the industrial world let me state that the ware produced by the Macbeth Evans Glass company is the accepted standard of the United States government for their light houses and coast lights. Other products are similarly highly regarded. Charleroi is conservatively active. Of course it has, as every community must have, its holdbacks and grouches, who never do anything but detract from anything pertaining to the public good. And I am sincerely sorry to state, gentlemen, speaking generally, that to this class belong some of the men of the cloth, whom I may compare to the fake doctors prescribing behind the cloak of false diplomas to the detriment of the human race.

I am prouder of Charleroi than I ever was before. We have the character here to overcome the effect of these grouches, or calamity howlers. Let us work for the good of the community and overcome any reflections which may be slurlingly cast upon us, and go forward."

George Nash, superintendent of the Pittsburgh Steel plant at Monessen was the second speaker, being introduced by Mr. Berryman to make an address for both himself and E. Bayard, the superintendent of the Donora steel works. Mr. Nash professed his pleasure at being present and said that he always enjoyed getting out with the Charleroi "boys" for a good time. He remarked upon the sincere loyalty so manifest here.

Enoch Raub, president of the Pittsburgh Credit Men's Association, who was one of the chief speakers of the evening, spoke of the co-operative part of business, and told what the Pittsburgh Association of Credit Men had done for the business interests of Western Pennsylvania. He presented the association's activities, showing the beneficial results accruing to financial, manufacturing and mercantile interests because of the credit men's association's faculty for going after and getting material values for the nation's united business interests. "The Pittsburgh association is absolutely non-political," he stated, "and it is entirely for the good of the members, being an organization of 801 firms or persons associated for protection against imposition and fraud."

L. C. Voss, a member of the Pittsburgh Association of Credit Men, told of the need for maintenance of fidelity, character and capacity in business operations, and told of the part these essentials had in the development of an association of credit men. He spoke of the personal equation in business enterprises, and said that while a certain degree of individuality was necessary to bring success in any kind of business or in successful pursuance of any definite aim but that co-operation was as needed.

William Feeney, Assemblyman-elect, spoke chiefly of the need of legislation for the safeguard of miners in Pennsylvania, and compared conditions in this State to those in Illinois and other Commonwealths. He said that he was brought out a candidate for Assembly by the miners because of the realization of this crying need for protective laws pertaining to the mines and gave his promise that he would energetically seek to have such passed.

J. K. Johnston, superintendent of the Charleroi Coal works, said that the Monongahela Valley was a great producing and a great consuming center, but raw products had to be shipped from this valley to be manufactured and returned for consumption. This is a condition that should not exist he stated, and he was willing to head a subscription to start a movement for the locating of plants for transforming raw products into finished articles.

Letters of regret were read by Toastmaster Berryman from Hon. Chas. Matthews, Congressman-elect, J. Carter Judson, Senator elect and J. B. Holland, Assemblyman-elect, who had been invited but could not be present.

H. J. Booth, superintendent of the Imperial Bottle factory, was called upon and spoke of "Bottles." Mr. Booth gave historical data, proving that the making of bottles was known to the Egyptians as far back as the year 3500 B. C. He said that America now leads in bottle manufacturing. Mr. Booth, concluding his talk, stated that the Imperial Bottle factory at Charleroi is turning out something like 1,000,000 bottles a week, and invited Charleroi people to the factory to see how it was done.

Sam Todd sprung two surprises when called upon. One was by presenting a check to the Charleroi Business Men's Association of $174.25, the balance from the old Chamber of Commerce fund. The other was by booming a goose farm project, which he calculated within a few years might bring millions of dollars to

RESPONSIBILITY ON THE PARENTS

Police Cannot Patrol All The Streets Where There is Coasting

The parents will be held responsible and not the borough should any accidents result to their children while coasting, according to a statement issued by the police department this morning. Since the recent fall of snow sleds have been dug out from dark corners and on every available street of town coasting has begun. The police are unable to watch every street and while they believe in leniency and allowing the children a certain amount of sport from coasting they insist that care must be taken.

BIG GAIN IS MADE BY STATE

Census Bureau Makes Announcement of Pennsylvania

COUNTY GAINS TWO-THIRDS

The census bureau yesterday announced the population of the State of Pennsylvania to be 7,665,111. The 1910 census of Pennsylvania shows a gain of 21.6 per cent over the population of 6,302,111 in 1900. According to the newer census Pennsylvania is entitled to six more Congressmen.

Washington county's population is 143,680.

These figures show a most remarkable gain for Washington county since the 1900 census when 92,161 was recorded a gain of 61,500, with the officials figures given out by the census bureau of 143,690 for the 1910 census. This is a gain of almost two-thirds. The figures of 1890 were 71,155.

SHOWER TENDERED A BRIDE-TO-BE

Miss Eliza Mathews of Ninth street entertained the Altar Guild of St. Mary's church in form of a miscellaneous shower, Wednesday in honor of one of its members, Miss Caroline M. Youngman, a bride of the near future. A very dainty lunch was served at 9:15, the color scheme being pink and white. A most enjoyable evening was spent by all present. Many beautiful and handsome gifts were received by the bride-elect.

Town Has Advanced More Than 62 Per Cent Since Taking of the Last Census in 1890

THE GAIN IN DISTRICTS

Population Now of Territory Below Sixth Street Nearly as Much as That of the Entire Town Ten Years Ago

Only by special arrangement with Census Director E. Dana Durand was the public announcement of Charleroi's population by the thirteenth census last night made possible. This arrangement was made by Census Supervisor Charles O. Frye of Charleroi, in order that he might read the figures at the banquet last night of the Charleroi Business Men's Association, when Governor-elect Tener and other notables were present with the members of the local association.

Mr. Frye has an interesting compilation of statistics. During the taking of the census Charleroi borough was mapped off into six districts, and the results from each district were as follows: First district, south of Sixth street east of Washington avenue, 1,681 people; second district, south of Sixth street, between Washington avenue and Crest avenue, 1,255 people; third district south of Sixth street, west of Crest avenue, 989 people; fourth district territory between Sixth street and Eighth street, 1,683 people; territory between Eighth and Tenth streets, 2,356 people; territory below Tenth street to boundary line, 1,691 people. By Mr. Frye's statistics there is a gain in population of over 62 per cent as announced in yesterday's Mail. He recounts the fact that north of Sixth street there are 5,690 people, or a number within 240 of the population of the whole town 10 years ago.

CHRISTMAS MONEY FOR MINE WORKERS

Two Pays Previous to Holiday at Various Mines.

Notices were sent out last night by nearly all mines along the valley that instead of the three weeks pay in December which would come on December 17, by special arrangements there would be two two-weeks pay, one on the 10th and the other on the 24th of the month. This arrangement was made with the view of benefitting the men so they can make their Christmas purchase in good time. The pay on the 10th, it is said will be a large one, and combined with the pay from the large industrial plants will mean a big boom in business the two weeks previous to Christmas.

The census bureau yesterday announced the population of the State of Pennsylvania to be 7,655,111. The 1910 census of Pennsylvania shows a gain of 21.6 per cent over the population of 6,302,111 in 1900. According to the newer census Pennsylvania is entitled to six more Congressmen.

Washington county's population is 148,680.

These figures show a most remarkable gain for Washington county since the 1900 census when 92,151 was recorded a gain of 61,500, with the official figures given out by the census bureau of 143,690 for the 1910 census. This is a gain of almost two-thirds. The figures of 1890 were 71,155.

SHOWER TENDERED A BRIDE-TO-BE

Miss Eliza Mathews of Ninth street entertained the Altar Guild of St. Mary's church in form of a miscellaneous shower, Wednesday in honor of one of its members, Miss Caroline M. Youngman, a bride of the near future. A very dainty lunch was served at 9:35, the color scheme being pink and white. A most enjoyable evening was spent by all present. Many beautiful and handsome gifts were received by the bride-elect.

Town Has Advanced More Than 62 Per Cent Since Taking of the Last Census in 1890

THE GAIN IN DISTRICTS

Population Now of Territory Below Sixth Street Nearly as Much as That of the Entire Town Ten Years Ago

Only by special arrangement with Census Director E. Dana Durand was the public announcement of Charleroi's population by the thirteenth census last night made possible. This arrangement was made by Census Supervisor Charles O. Frye of Charleroi, in order that he might read the figures at the banquet last night of the Charleroi Business Men's Association, when Governor-elect Tener and other notables were present with the members of the local association.

Mr. Frye has an interesting compilation of statistics. During the taking of the census Charleroi borough was mapped off into six districts, and the results from each district were as follows: First district, south of Sixth street east of Washington avenue, 1,681 people; second district, south of Sixth street, between Washington avenue and Crest avenue, 1,255 people; third district, south of Sixth street, west of Crest avenue, 989 people; fourth district, territory between Sixth street and Eighth street, 1,633 people; territory between Eighth and Tenth streets, 2,356 people; territory below Tenth street to boundary line, 1,691 people. By Mr. Frye's statistics there is a gain in population of over 62 per cent as announced in yesterday's Mail. He recounts the fact that north of Sixth street there are 5,690 people, or a number within 240 of the population of the whole town 10 years ago.

CHRISTMAS MONEY FOR MINE WORKERS

Two Pays Previous to Holiday at Various Mines.

Notices were sent out last night by nearly all mines along the valley that instead of the three weeks pay in December which would come on December 17, by special arrangements there would be two two-weeks pay, one on the 10th and the other on the 24th of the month. This arrangement was made with the view of benefitting the men so they can make their Christmas purchase in good time. The pay on the 10th, it is said will be a large one, and combined with the pay from the large industrial plants will mean a big boom in business the two weeks previous to Christmas.

Pace Too Rapid
Press dispatches state that investigation has shown the extensive use of drugs for stimulants among the students of the Pennsylvania University in Philadelphia just before the examinations. It is stated that the examinations are so strenuous that students have come to believe they cannot bear up under them unless they resort to stimulants. In many cases it is said, that life-long habits in taking drugs have been acquired.

This leads to the inference that in trying to advance the standard of education the college professors are overdoing the thing. While it is conceded that ideals must be beyond the real, the endeavor to make the real overtake the ideal had exceeded the bounds of reason. So difficult and intricate are many of the college and school examinations now that some but mental prodigies are capable of keeping up with them. This is said to be particularly true in the examinations for entrance to the United States military and naval academies at West Point and Annapolis. This is in marked contrast to a couple of generations ago when the youthful mental capacity was about the same then as now. Had the same standard existed then in the military academy, it is more than likely that ordinary country lads like "Uly," Grant, "Billy," Sherman and Phil Sheridan, whose preliminary education was acquired at the crossroads country school, would never have passed the entrance examinations. That being the case West Point would have graduated a bunch of theoretical generals, strong in engineering and map strategy, but incapable of dogged, rough and tumble fighting. A modern general would have figured out his campaign along his line of strategy before it took all summer, where Grant, the country school lad, proposed to fight it out.

Today in the modern college, the student who can pass the difficult examinations and burns up his energy and vitality in attaining this academic intellectual perfection, can perhaps eventually qualify as a college professor at $1,500 a year, or become an agent for an encyclopedia.

pedia. The leggers become baseball pitchers, bankers, manufacturers, capitalists and captains of industry. The whole college system has become so strenuous. The world's work is still done by average people, and school and college courses should be graded to fit average intellects. Unless that is done the full purpose of higher education is not attained. "Speeding up" the youthful intellect unduly should be prohibited.

ELECTRIC SPARKS
A man who tried to kiss a cop in Boston was adjudged insane and sent to an asylum. Anybody but a cook who would try to osculate a city policeman is undoubtedly mentally unbalanced.

Such a gathering as the Charleroi Business Men's Association had last night was never known to Charleroi before.

It may be all right and perfectly proper for a king having at least one wife to travel incognito in the United States, but any other titled individual, that poses as single had better think twice before he goes to that extreme. Monongahela complains of its water service and compares the quality to that Charleroi had to use a year or more ago. They are entitled to pity, if it's as bad as that.

The United States Steel corporation by the pensioning of its employees pulls off an advertising stunt that for effectiveness can't be beat by all the press agents in the business.

Monessen had a burlesque show last night. That was why so many men had business at the office late in the evening. Any persons who knows much about the shopping business knows that it is a great advantage to do Christmas shopping early. And they likewise are well aware that as long as the women have anything to do with it there will not be anything but a bargain counter rush at the last minute.

Plague showed what can be accomplished by concerted and persistent action.

In short, the meeting was a mar- shalling of the forces of Charleroi, and when stock was taken it was shown that there is every requisition on hand to organize and develop home industries. There is energy, ambition and youthfulness on the part of workers, and even sufficient capital in the community. All that seems to be necessary is to get to work, and from the enthusiasm displayed it is quite evident that most tangible results will follow the first annual banquet of the Charleroi Business Men's Association.

Inspiration For Future Advancement Is Received From Inspiring Talks

(Continued from First Page.) local investors. Tom S. Ploan spoke of "Future Possibilities of Charleroi." He said that Charleroi has great wealth and there is nothing to prevent its advancement. He spoke of the new county scheme of which Charleroi is the proposed centre, and said that among the things which was needed was the connection by trolley line with Ellsworth, Cokeburg and other interior county places. He also favored a free bridge to Monessen. Charles O. Frye said he had been scooped by the Mail on a good census story and lamented the fact, then added figures showing that Charleroi and Washington county was rapidly developing. Dr. J. W. Hunter told of the fight against the White Plague, which is being systematically carried on in the

BANQUET A WELL ARRANGED AFFAIR
Dining Hall Nicely Decorated
---Credit Due to Committee.

A most delectable affair was the banquet proper of the Charleroi Business Mens Association which was served in the spacious and handsomely decorated dining room on the fourth floor of the Hotel Charleroi last evening. Accompanying the menu cards was a unique blue print four-page folder, the work of Joe Mason, mining engineer at the Charleroi Coal works. The folder recited the chief productions of Charleroi, which, included a Governor, and gave in a snappy, terse way, the why and what of Charleroi. The following menu was served to the 60 or more guests who filled the tables, which were arranged daintily in three sides of a square:

Oyster Cocktail	Assorted Cakes
Toasted Sticks	Chicken Bouillon
Celery	Saltine Wafers
Stuffed Spring Turkey--Cranberries
Fillet of Beef with Mushrooms
Mashed Potatoes	Cold Slaw
Candied Sweets	Patissiers
Stuffed Olives
Waldorf Salad
Pineapple Cheese
Cream
Fruit
Demitasse
Cigars

Much credit is due the committee, composed of J. B. Schafer, chairman, Louis Beigel, J. W. Stech, J. W. Carroll and C. J. Matthews, who arranged the excellent menu. An appreciative feature was the orchestra, which added much to the enjoyment of the evening.

Misses Gertrude Harris and Edwin Thomas and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lettler, of Pittsburgh were guests of Miss Alice McKean on Lincoln avenue over Sunday.

State and county. E. C. Niver spoke on "The Influence of a News paper in a Community," and W. C. Clark spoke for the merchants, stating that they were the men to whom everybody looked to support a community. He said that they were the real index to the business standing of a town or city. W. R. Gaut spoke of the hotels in Charleroi, saying that throughout the State it was recognized that Charleroi had the best in the way of accommodations. M. Adams, the secretary of the association, made some suggestions for the betterment of the community, and H. D. Mason told something of the sociological question in Charleroi.

Before the gathering had dispersed Governor-elect Tener made the statement that if the Business Men's Association would secure rights-of-way from Charleroi to Ellsworth he would assure that a trolley line would be built immediately. He also expressed his appreciation of the loyal support Charleroi has always given him. The banquet was adjourned some time after midnight.

The Great Annual Riddle

"What to Get for Her?" is most easily solved at this store. We have spent days and days preparing, selecting, buying and getting ready to present to you this great stock of Things that Women Like Best, and now that everything is ready, it is with a feeling of pardonable pride that we ask you to come and see the result of all this effort we have put forth to present a line of Holiday Goods for ladies that would excel in extensiveness and distinctiveness any that had ever been shown in the city of Charleroi.

His Sarcastic Friend.

He was very proud of his new automobile—talked automobile, dreamed automobile, read automobile. Finally to his friends he became a nuisance, and each to himself swore softly that he would bide his time and at the proper moment give him a little verbal thrust.

Finally one long suffering individual was asked to go for a ride. Excuses were of no avail. He was bundled into the machine and taken for a spin through the parks and over the boulevards. In due course of time, without any serious mishap, they pulled up at the Automobile club. The auto cranked and his guest were soon surrounded by several of their friends.

"How did you enjoy your ride?" was asked of the auto crank's friend. "Until today I never thought an automobile could go so fast," was his reply. (Here the auto crank was all attention. That was some praise for his car. Right out in public too. That would silence some of the scoffers who said his machine should be called Snail.) "Why, do you know there was a car went by us at such a clip that I could hardly see it."

The auto crank glared, and under his gaze the group melted away. They had had their revenge.—Pittsburg Gazette-Times.

Juvenile Suicides.

"A generation ago the taking of their own lives by minors was almost an unheard of occurrence," said a physician. "Now it is becoming alarmingly frequent not only in this country, but in Europe. In most cases the phenomenon can be set down to the artificial life people lead and to the complex conditions of modern existence. Very often parents are too ambitious for their children and by constant appeals to them so work on the nervous temperaments of their offspring as to bring on a derangement of the mental faculties. One of the most noted specialists of France, Dr. Berillon, who has made a study of the matter, asserts that often a whole generation tendency are for the most part wanting in the sense of sacrifice. He makes recommendation that all who suffer from this defect should be taken to an expert for examination, as it might tend to forestall some future tragedy.—Baltimore American.

The First Automobileist.

Nicholas Joseph Cugnot was the first automobileist. Many years before Stephenson had introduced his railway locomotive Cugnot, who was a military engineer, had made a locomotive for roads. His locomotive has been piously preserved at the Conservatoire des Arts et Metiers. Cugnot died in 1804. His lot was not that of many geniuses. He did not die in want. Napoleon had secured him a pension of 1,000 francs—passing rich on $200 a year. In this respect the premier consul showed more enlightenment than he did in regard to Fulton or steamboat fame, whom he considered—it is distressing to write—an adventurer. Cug-not's carriage was built to transport arms and he had designed a service gun. These achievements alone would be a passport to Napoleon's favor.—London Globe.

His Luxurious Pillow.

"When sleeping cars first came in," said a railroad man, "the bedclothes in the berths were very scanty. On one of these early cars one night after everybody had turned in and the lights were low a loud voice called from an upper berth:

"Porter, got a corkscrew?" "The porter came hurrying down the aisle.

"Boss," he said in a scandalized tone, "we don't allow no drinkin' in the berths. It's against the rules."

"Oh, it ain't that, porter," the voice answered. "I just want to dig out a pillow that's sort of worked its way into my ear."

Avoid popularity; it has many snares and no real benefit.—Penn.

Moyt's Hospitality.

It was the habit of Charles H. Hoyt, the dramatist, to invite almost everybody he met to come up and spend a few weeks with him at his summer home in New Hampshire.

One night Hoyt, Bert Dasher, W. B. Currie, Frank McKee and several other house guests of Hoyt were sitting on the veranda of Hoyt's summer house waiting for dinner. The train had just arrived, and they saw an old farmer, and his wife coming up the path.

"Who are they?" asked Hoyt. "I never saw them before."

"The dickens you didn't," replied Currie. "That is that old chap and his wife you talked to over at Springfield and invited to visit you."

"Oh, well," said Hoyt, "maybe they are just coming in to dinner. They will take the night train back."

Then he looked again and saw the old man behind the farmer and his wife wheeling a big trunk on a wheelbarrow.

"No, by George," shouted Hoyt, "they are here for a run."

And they stayed a month.—Cleveland Leader

Long and Short Story Writers.

Which are the great short stories of the English language? Not a bad basis for a debate! This I am sure of—that there are far fewer supremely good short stories than there are supposedly good long books. It takes more exquisite skill to carve the cameo than the statue. But the strangest thing is that the two excellences seem to be separate and even antagonistic. Skill in the one by no means insures skill in the other. The great masters of our literature, Fielding, Scott, Dickens, Thackeray and Reade, have left no single short story of outstanding merit behind them, with the possible exception of Wandering Willie's tale in "Red Gauntlet."

On the other hand, men who have been very great in the short story, Stevenson, Poe and Bret Harte, have written no great book. The champion sprinter is seldom a five miler as well. Poe is the master of all. Poe is, to my mind, the supreme original short story writer of all time.—Conan Doyle in "Through the Magic Door."

Yosemite Versus Grand Canyon.

Yosemite for a home or a camp, the Grand Canyon for a spectacle. I saw a robin in Yosemite valley. Think how forlorn and out of place a robin would seem in the Grand Canyon! What would he do there? There is no turf for him to inspect, and there are no trees for him to perch on. I would as soon expect to find him amid the pyramids of Egypt or amid the ruins of Karnak. The bluebird was there also, and the water ouzel haunted the lucid waters. The reader may create for himself a good image of Yosemite by thinking of a section of seven or eight miles of the Hudson river midway of its course as emptied of its waters and deepened 3,000 feet or more, having the sides nearly vertical, with snow white waterfalls flatterring against them here and there, the famous spires and domes planted along the rim, and the landscape of groves and meadows with its still, clear, wind-swept sky appearing at the bottom.—John Burroughs in Century.

Always Happens.

A man who goes around with a chip on his shoulder will finally encounter as big a fool as he is and there will be a fight.—Atchison Globe.

The sense of smartness is sure to make a man shallow.

FRATERNITY DANCE

BRILLIANT FUNCTION

Between 60 and 70 couples from Charleroi and all along the valley attended the autumn dance of the Alphi Phi Beta Fraternity at the Bank of Charleroi hall last night.
The affair was one of the brilliant social events of the season. Dancing was from 8:30 to 1:30. The bank hall was brilliantly decorated for the occasion, pennants bearing the colors and the insignia of the fraternity forming a part. Couples were present from Brownsville, Monongahela, California, Monessen, Donora, McKeesport, Duquesne, Pittsburgh, Dravos-burg and other places.

The Holiday Goods are Here

Months ago we began preparing for this great carnival of Holiday Goods.
While you were enjoying the breezes on your porches last summer great steamers were crossing the oceans bearing huge cases marked "Kirk and Clark, Charleroi." These cases containing the best of the old world's novelties and fancy goods. But that is not all, Santa's auto has been busy and we have the best lines of American made Toys, Fancy Goods and Jewelry that has ever been assembled in Charleroi--a line that would be a credit to any city store, and at prices which defy competition. Kirk and Clark. 9812

Linens

"What so appropriate and welcome for a gift as a piece of linen? Its snowy whiteness seems to token the typical Christmas weather and its durable quality is a pleasant reminder of a lasting and fond friendship-- make somebody glad this Xmas with a gift of some big or little piece of linen from our stocks brought from Ireland, Austria or Japan. Kirk and Clark. 9812
